REV DR. ISIDOR KALISCH

Author of the “Guide for Rational Inquiries into the Biblical Scriptures, “Tone des Morgenlandes,” Translator of “Nathan the Wise” from the German, etc., etc., etc.
The service Dr. Kalisch rendered in 1877 by his first English translation of the Sepher Yezirah has grown even greater with the passing years. Other translations, it is true, have a certain merit; nonetheless, none has surpassed and few have equaled the work that he did.

This is so not because Dr. Kalisch was Jewish and other translators were not; but rather because his translation was prompted by motives unmixed with mistaken notions of the authors intent. He dealt with it reverently as the earliest example of Hebrew metaphysical writing and not as a brief for a particular school of magical legerdemain in the realm of thought.

One readily forgives him, then, for calling the Qabalah a system of metaphysical delirium, for such it became in the hands of those whose mental discipline was small and whose imagination large. He rescued the Sepher Yezirah from the unworthy use to which such writers were subjecting it.

Without question, the Sepher Yezirah is a fundamental source of Qabalistic thought, but it should be remembered, as Dr. Johann Friedrich von Meyer pointed out in his preface to the German translation of 1830, a distinction must always be made between the real Qabalah and the excrescences that have developed around it. Unfortunately, for most, those excrescences are the Qabalah.

Dr. Kalisch’s real service lay in restoring the work as a sound metaphysical treatise worthy of the attention of all seriously interested in the development of such concepts.

Originally, the Qabalah was conducive to such concepts, and had Qabalists confined themselves solely to the Yeziраhs pattern and not ventured beyond it in extensions of thought based on fundamental misconceptions, the extravagances of eighteenth and nineteenth century mysticism would have been avoided and the Qabalah would today be seen as a steady and reliable beacon in a world of dark and confused thinking. But for that result, the human mind itself would have had to be differently constituted.

Modern systems of thought—ethical, religious, metaphysical—have nevertheless been permeated with ideas directly traceable to the Qabalah. Esoteric societies and mystical organizations have drawn largely from it for their ritualistic teaching and procedure—oftentimes being altogether unaware of their indebtedness.

The Ancient and Mystical Order Rosae Crucis has numbered among its members in the past many who were known to be Qabalists, and today its membership is kept informed of the essential characteristics. It is in the attempt to make available authentic information on the subject that this reprinting of Dr. Kalisch’s translation of the Sepher Yeziраh is undertaken. There is little doubt that the careful and properly discriminating reader will be adequately rewarded for time spent in the study of this invaluable little essay.

This metaphysical essay, called “Sepher Yezirah,” (book on creation, or cosmogony,) which I have endeavored to render into English, with explanatory notes, is considered by all modern literati as the first philosophical book that ever was written in the Hebrew language. But the time of its composition and the name of its author have not yet been ascertained, despite of the most elaborate researches of renowned archaeologists. Some maintain that this essay is mentioned in the Talmud treatise Sanhedrin, p. 66 b. and ibid. 67 b. which passage is according to the commentary of Rashi, to treatise Erubin, p. 63 a., a reliable historical notice. Hence this book was known already in the second or at the beginning of the third century of the Christian Era. The historian, Dr. Graetz, tries to show very ingeniously in his work, entitled “Gnosticism,” p. 104 and 110, that it was written in the early centuries of the Christian Church, especially when the ideas and views of the Gnostics were in vogue. This opinion, however, he afterwards revoked. (See Dr. Graetz’s “History of the Jews,” Vol. V, p. 313 in a note.)

Dr. Zunz, the Nestor of the Jewish Rabbis in Europe, maintains that we have to look for the genesis of the book “Yezirah” in the Geonic period, (700-1000), and that it was consequently composed in a post-talmudical time. But if so, it is very strange that Saadjah Gaon, who lived in the tenth, and Judah Halevi, who lived in the twelfth century, represented the book "Yezirah" as a very ancient work. Therefore it seems to me, that Dr. Graetz had no sufficient cause to repudiate his assertion concerning the age of this book; because all the difficulties which he himself and others raised against his supposition, fall to the ground, when we consider that the most ancient works, holy as well as profane, had one and the same fate, namely, that from age to age more or less interpolations were made by copyists and commentators. Compare also Prof. Tenneman's "Grundriss der Geschichte der Philosophie," improved by Prof. Wendt, p. 207.

Tradition, which ascribes the authorship of this book to the patriarch Abraham, is fabulous, as can be proved by many reasons; but the idea that Rabbi Akiba, who lived about the beginning of the second century, composed the book "Yezirah," is very likely possible. Be this as it may, it is worthwhile to know the extravagant hypotheses which ancient Jewish philosophers and theologians framed as soon as they began to contemplate and to reason, endeavoring to combine oriental and Greek theories. Although there is an exuberance of weeds, we will find, nevertheless, many germs of truisms, which are of the greatest importance. A Christian theologian, Johann Friedrich von Meyer D. D., remarked very truly in his German preface to the book "Yezirah," published in Leipzig, 1830: "This book is for two reasons highly important: in the first place, that the real Cabala or mystical doctrine of the Jews, which must be carefully distinguished from its excrescences, is in close connection and perfect accord with the Old and New Testaments; and in the second place, that the knowledge of it is of great importance to the philosophical inquirers, and can not be put aside. Like a cloud permeated by beams of light which makes one infer that there is more light behind it, so do the contents of this book, enveloped in obscurity, abound in coruscations of thought, reveal to the mind that there is a still more effulgent light lurking somewhere, and thus inviting us to a further contemplation and investigation, and at the same time demonstrating the danger of a superficial investigation, which is so prevalent in modern times, rejecting that which can not be understood at first sight."

I shall now try to give a sketch of the system as it is displayed in the book "Yezirah," which forms a link in the chain of the ancient theoretical speculations of philosophers, who were striving to ascertain the truth mainly by reasoning a-priori, and who imagined that it is thus possible to permeate all the secrets of nature. It teaches that a first cause, eternal, all-wise, almighty and holy, is the origin and the centre of the whole universe, from whom gradually all beings emanated. Thought, speech and action are an inseparable unity in the divine being; God made or created, is metaphorically expressed by the word: writing. The Hebrew language and its characters correspond mostly with the things they designate, and thus holy thoughts,
HEBREW LANGUAGE AND ITS REDUCTION TO WRITING, FORM A UNITY WHICH PRODUCE A CREATIVE EFFECT.

   THE SELF-EXISTING FIRST CAUSE CALLED THE CREATION INTO EXISTENCE BY QUANTITY AND QUALITY; THE FORMER REPRESENTED BY TEN NUMBERS (SEPhiroth), THE LATTER BY TWENTY-TWO LETTERS, WHICH FORM TOGETHER THIRTY-TWO WAYS OF THE DIVINE WISDOM. THREE OF THE TWENTY-TWO LETTERS, NAMELY, ALEPH, MEM, SHEEN, ARE THE MOTHERS, OR THE FIRST ELEMENTS, FROM WHICH CAME FORTH THE PRIMITIVE MATTER OF THE WORLD: AIR, WATER AND FIRE, THAT HAVE THEIR PARALLEL IN MALE AND FEMALE:
BREAST, BODY AND HEAD, AND IN THE YEAR: MOISTURE, COLD
AND HEAT. THE OTHER SEVEN DOUBLE AND TWELVE SIMPLE
LETTERS ARE THEN REPRESENTED AS STAMINA, FROM WHICH OTHER SPHERES OR MEDIA OF EXISTENCE EMANATED.

   THE HUMAN BEING IS A MICROSCOSM, AS THE NECK
SEPARATES RATIONALITY FROM VITALITY, SO DOES DIAPHRAGM

*Thus for instance, they imagined that the name of Jehovah, יי is by reversing the alphabet; יניב (mzpz); mem signifies the letter jod, zaddi, the letter he, and pe, the letter vav. These unmeaning sounds, they said, have magic power. Some maintained that the Hebrew language consists of twenty-two consonants, because being the complex of all beings, its number is equal to the most perfect figure, namely, of the periphery, as it is well known that the diameter is always to the periphery as seven to twenty-two.

It was frequently observed by Jewish and Christian theologians, that the Marcosianic Gnostic system, as well as that of the Clementinians of the second century, contain many analogies and parallels with the book “Yezirah.” Marcus divides the Greek alphabet into three parts, namely: nine mute consonants Αpsilon, eight half vowels Ημιοωνα, and seven vowels Φωνηρα, in order to give a clear idea of the peculiar constitution of his “Aeons.” (Irenaeus Haer, I, 16.)
God stands in close connection with the Universe, and just so is Tali connected with the world, that is, an invisible, celestial or universal axis carries the whole fabric. In the year by the sphere, in human beings by the heart, and thus is the ruling spirit of God everywhere. Notwithstanding the decay of the individual, the genus is produced by the antithesis of male and female.

Hebrew commentaries on the book “Yezirah” were composed by: first, Saadjah Gaon, of Fajum [Fayum] in Egypt, (892-942); second, Rabbi Abraham ben Dior Halevi; third, Rabbi Moses ben Nachman; fourth, Elieser of Germisa; fifth, Moses Botarel; sixth, Rabbi Elijah Wilna. The book “Yezirah,” together with all these commentaries, was published in 1860, in the city of Lemberg. But although the commentator Saadjah was a sober minded scholar in a superstitious age, a good Hebrew grammarian, a renowned theologian and a good translator of the Hebrew Pentateuch, Isaiah and Job into the Arabian language, his ideas and views were, nevertheless, very often much benighted. See his comments on Yez. Chap. I. etc., etc.; his notes on “Yezirah” Chap. III, 2, prove undoubtedly that he had no knowledge whatever of natural science, and therefore his annotations on the book “Yezirah” are of little or no use at all. All the other commentaries mentioned above, together with all quotations of other expounders of the same book, contain nothing but a medley of arbitrary, mystical explanations and sophistical distortions.
of scriptural verses, astrological notions, oriental superstitions, a metaphysical jargon, a poor knowledge of physics and not a correct elucidation of the ancient book; they drew mostly from their own imagination, and credited the author of “Yezirah” with saying very strange things which he never thought of. I must not omit to mention two other Hebrew commentaries, one by Judah Halevi, and the other by Ebn Ezra, who lived in the first part of the twelfth century. They succeeded in explaining the book “Yezirah” in a sound scientific manner, but failed in making themselves generally understood, on account of the superstitious age in which they lived, and the tenacity with which the people in that period adhered to the marvelous and supernatural; they found, therefore, but few followers, and the book “Yezirah” remained to the public an enigma and an ancient curiosity, giving rise to a system of metaphysical delirium, called Cabala.

Translations of the book “Yezirah” and comments thereon by learned Christian authors are: first, a translation of the book “Yezirah” with explanatory notes in the Latin language, by Wilhelm Postellus, Paris, France, 1552; second, another Latin version is contained in Jo. Pistorii artis cabalistical scriptorum, Tom I, p. 869, sqq., differing from that of Postellus. Some are of the opinion that John Reuchlin, while others maintain that Paul Riccius was the author of it. (See Wolfii Biblioth. Hebr. Tom., I, Chap. 1.) Third, Rittangel published the book “Yezirah,” 1642, at Amsterdam, entitled: “Liber Yezirah qui Abrahamo

All those translations are out of print and are rarely found even in well regulated libraries. I was so fortunate as to obtain a copy of Dr. Meyer’s edition of the book “Yezirah.” He states in the preface to it, that he had a copy of Postellus’ translation in manuscript as well as some others, and compared them. The explanatory notes given by this author are, nevertheless, insufficient and sometimes very incorrect. The present translation is, as far as I could ascertain, the first that was ever published in the English language. Again, I have to add that I have not only endeavored to correct a great many mistakes and erroneous ideas of my predecessors, but I have also endeavored to give more complete annotations. I therefore hope that the candid reader will consider the great difficulties I had to overcome in this still unbeaten way of the ancient Jewish spiritual religion, and will receive with indulgence this new contribution to archaeological knowledge.

CHAPTER I.

SECTION 1.

Yah,\(^1\) the Lord of hosts, the living God, King of the Universe, Omnipotent, All-Kind and Merciful, Supreme and Exalted, who is Eternal, Sublime and Most-Holy, ordained (formed) and created the Universe in thirty-two\(^2\) mysterious paths\(^3\) of wisdom by three\(^4\) Sepharim, namely: 1) S’for הַּדְּסָנָא; 2) Sippur רְשָׁפִיר; and 3) Sapher יַסְפָּר which are in Him one and the same. They consist of a decade out of nothing\(^5\) and of twenty-two fundamental letters. He divided the twenty-two consonants into three divisions: 1) three אינא mothers, fundamental letters or first elements; 2) seven double; and 3) twelve simple consonants.

SECTION 2.

The decade\(^6\) out of nothing is analogous to that of the ten fingers (and toes) of the human body, five parallel to five, and in the centre of which is the covenant with the only One, by the word of the tongue and the rite of Abraham.

SECTION 3.

Ten are the numbers out of nothing, and not the number nine, ten and not eleven. Comprehend this great wisdom, understand this\(^7\) knowledge, inquire into it and ponder on it, render it evident and lead\(^8\) the Creator back to His throne again.

SECTION 4.

The decade out of nothing has the following ten infinitudes:

1) The beginning\(^9\) infinite. 6) The depth infinite.
2) \textit{end} \textit{\textgreater} 7) \textit{East} \textit{\textgreater}
3) \textit{good} \textit{\textless} 8) \textit{West} \textit{\textless}
4) \textit{evil}\(^{10}\) \textit{\textless} 9) \textit{North} \textit{\textless}
5) \textit{height} \textit{\textless} 10) \textit{South} \textit{\textless} and the only Lord God, the faithful King, rules over all from His holy habitation for ever and ever.

SECTION 5.

The appearance of the ten spheres out of nothing is like a flash of lightning, being without an end, His word is in them, when they go and return; they run by His order like a whirlwind and humble themselves before His throne.

SECTION 6.

The decade of existence out of nothing has its end linked to its beginning and its beginning linked to its end, just as the flame is wedded to the live coal; because the Lord is one and there is not a second one, and before one what wilt thou count?\(^{11}\)

SECTION 7.

Concerning the number ten of the spheres of existence out of nothing keep thy tongue from speaking and thy mind from pondering on it, and if thy mouth urges thee to speak, and thy heart to think about it, return! as it reads: “And the living creatures ran and returned,” (Ezekiel 6,14.) and upon this\(^{12}\) was the covenant made.

The following are the ten categories of existence out of nothing:

1) The spirit of the living God, praised and glorified be the name of Him who lives to all eternity. The articulate word of creative power, the spirit and the word are what we call the holy spirit.\textsuperscript{13}

2) Air emanated from the spirit by which He formed and established twenty-two consonants, stamina. Three of them, however, are fundamental letters, or mothers, seven double and twelve simple consonants; hence the spirit is the first one.

3) Primitive water emanated from the air. He formed and established by it Bohu\textsuperscript{14} (water, stones) mud and loam, made them like a bed, put them up like a wall, and surrounded them as with a rampart, put coldness upon them and they became dust, as it reads: "He says to the snow (coldness) be thou earth." (Job 37, 6.)

4) Fire or ether emanated from the water. He established by it the throne of glory, the Seraphim and Ophanim, the holy living creatures and the angels, and of these three He formed His habitation, as it reads: "Who made His angels spirits, His ministers a flaming fire." (Psalm 104, 4.) He selected three consonants from the simple ones which are in the hidden secret of three mothers or first elements: צ,מ,ש air, water and ether or fire. He sealed them with spirit and fastened them to His great name and sealed with it six dimensions.\textsuperscript{15}

after having been appointed and established by God, He combined, weighed and changed them, and formed by them all beings which are in existence, and all those which will be formed in all time to come.

SECTION 3.

He established twenty-two letters, stamina, by the voice, formed by the breath of air and fixed them on five places in the human mouth, namely: 1) gutturals, בֵּית הָא 2) palatals, בֵּית הָא 3) linguals, בֵּית הָא 4) dentals, בֵּית הָא 5) labials, בֵּית הָא

SECTION 4.

But how was it done? He combined,²⁰ weighed and changed: the ב with all the other letters in succession, and all the others again with ב; ב with all, and all again with ב; and so the whole series of letters.²¹ Hence it follows that there are two hundred and thirty-one²² formations, and that every creature and every word emanated from one name.²³

SECTION 1.

The three first elements, ב"ע" are typified by a balance, in one scale the merit and in the other the criminality, which are placed in equilibrium by the tongue. These three mothers, ב"ע" are a great, wonderful and unknown mystery, and are sealed by six²⁶ rings, or elementary circles, namely: air, water and fire emanated from them, which gave birth to progenitors, and these progenitors gave birth again to some offspring.

SECTION 2.

God appointed and established the three mothers ב"ע" combined, weighed and changed them, and formed by them three mothers ב"ע" in the world, in the year and in man, male and female.

SECTION 3.

The three mothers ב"ע" in the world are: air, water and fire. Heaven was created from fire or ether; the earth (comprising sea and land) from the elementary water; and the atmospheric air from the elementary air, or spirit, which establishes the balance among them.

CHAPTER VI.

SECTION 1.

These are the three mothers or the first elements, נב"ע from which emanated three progenitors; primitive air, water and fire, and from which emanated as their offspring, three progenitors and their offspring, namely: the seven planets and their hosts, and the twelve oblique points.

SECTION 2.

To confirm this there are faithful witnesses; the world, year and man, the twelve, the Equipoise, the heptade, which God regulates like the Dragon, (Tali) sphere and the heart.

SECTION 3.

The first elements נב"ע are air, water and fire; the fire is above, the water below, and a breath of air establishes the balance among them. For an illustration may serve, that the fire carries the water is the phonetic character of ב which is mute and ב is hissing like fire, there is כ among them, a breath of air which places them in eqilibrium.

SECTION 4.

Dragon (Tali) is in the world like a king upon his throne, the sphere is in the year like a king in the empire, and the heart is in the human body like a king in war.

SECTION 5.

God has also set the one over against the other; the good against the evil, and the evil against the good; the good proceeds from the good, and the evil from the evil; the good purifies the bad, and the bad the good; the good is preserved for the good, and the evil for the bad ones.

SECTION 6.

There are three of which every one of them stands by itself; one is in the affirmative, the other in the negative and one qualizes them.

SECTION 7.

There are seven of which three are against three, and one places them in equilibrium. There are twelve which are all the time at war; three of them produce love, and three hatred, three are animators and three destroyers.

SECTION 8.

The three that produce love are the heart and the ears; the three that produce hatred are the liver, the gall and the tongue; the three animators are the two nostrils and the milt; and the three destroyers are the mouth and the two openings of the body; and God, the faithful King, rules over all from His holy habitation to all eternity. He is one above three, three are above seven, seven above twelve, and all are linked together.

NOTES.

1) Our author maintains that there is a first intelligent, self-existing, almighty, eternal ruling cause of all things, and that an everlasting entity produced nonentities by a progression of effects. The divine knowledge, he adds, differs from the human knowledge in such a degree, that it gives existence to all that is. ד"ה יבשה יתלמה is a talmudical expression. (See Treatise Bava Bathra p. 73.) It seems to me, that the author not only wanted to contradict Plato’s assertion that the Supreme Being had need of a plan, like the human architect, to conduct the great design, when he made the fabric of the Universe, but also the common belief that God reasons and acts by ideas like a human being. As the prophet Isaiah exclaimed: “Behold! God has no ideas like you, and his ways of acting are not like yours.” (Isaiah 55, 8—9.)

2) The number thirty-two is not only the fifth power of two, and the sum of ten units and twenty-two letters, but it is also the sum of the first and last letter of the Hebrew Pentateuch, namely: ב ב and ב ג, equal thirty-two. (See Kusari p. 343, translated into German by Dr. David Cassel.)

3) Paths denote powers, effects, kinds, forms, degrees or stages.

4) These Sepharim or three words of similar expression signify: first, number, calculation or idea; second, the word; third, the writing of the word. The idea, word and writing (of the word), are signs to man for a thing, and is not the thing itself, to the Creator, how ever, idea, word and writing (of the word) are the thing itself, or as some ancient Rabbis remarked: מ"ב מ"ב מ"ב מ"ב "י וָוֶsilent, word and work are one and the same to God." There is an ideal world in the divine intellect, according to which this sensible world was made. The difference between the human and divine manner of thinking admits no comparison.

5) This means to say, that there has not been any matter or hyle existing from all eternity, containing different kinds of primitive atoms or molecules etc., as the Greek philosopher, Anaxagoras, taught, but that all things are the gradual emanations of one everlasting being. This idea is then symbolically explained in the next paragraph.

6) The design of the author is evidently to deduce the proof of the decade from the phenomena in the nature of man, who is generally considered the crown or the final cause of the terrestrial creation, and upon whom God vouchsafed two most precious gifts, namely: the articulated word, and the religious element (spiritual purity). This passage is explained by Isaac Satanow in his Hebrew Dictionary entitled Sephath Emeth, p. 44, b:

The tongue is, as it were, the descriptive pen of all the spiritual issues, and the genital parts are the or-ginators of the corporeal substances. Every one of them is an eternal covenant in order to preserve the human race for ever, according to its twofold being: body and spirit. Each working after its own way, physically and spiritually.

7) Like Pythagoras, who taught that the digits inclusive number ten which are typified in Tetraktyis, Τετρακτύς namely: 1 plus 2 plus 3 plus 4 equal 10, and which comprise the whole arithmetical system of nature, etc. Our author endeavors to show the gradual emanation of all things from God, which were completely finished in ten spheres.

8) My Hebrew reading is: דַּרְכֶּשׁ יְרֵךְ עַל מָכֱוֹת: There are various readings; therefore Postellus rendered it: “restitute fragmentum in locum suum;” Rittangel, “restitue formatem in throno suo;” Pistorius, “fac sedere creatorem in throno suo.” The author seems to ridicule here the Gnostics who maintained that Demiurg was the creator of man and the sensual world.

9) In God is the beginning and he is the boundary of the Universe.
Compare also the Talmud treatise Chagigah p. 12.

10) Here is contradicted the system of ditheism, consisting of an eternal God, the Author of all good and of “Hyle” or “Satan,” the co-eternal and coequal principle of evil, maintaining that an all-perfect God alone is the author of all good and evil, and has in his infinite wisdom so wonderfully contrived the nature of things, that physical and moral evil may produce good, and hence contribute to carry out the great design of the Supreme Being. Compare also Chap. 6 §5.

11) As the infinite series of numbers starts from one unit, so was the whole Universe formed a unity, that centres in the Godhead.

12) The meaning is, that as the living creatures which the prophet saw in his vision were stricken with such an awe, that they could not go any further to see the divine glory, and had to return, so is the decade an etnernal secret to us and we are not permitted to understand it. We find this very idea in the Pythagorean system. The disciples of Pythagoras looked upon the decade as a holy number, and swore by it and by the Tetraktyis which contain the number ten.

13) See above Note I, God, idea and word are indivisible.
14) I adopted here the reading of Judah Halevi, namely: \( \text{יהוּדָה הָֽלָּלִי} \) with the exception of the word "Tohu," because it is obvious from "Yezirah," Chap. II, that the author signifies by the word "Tohu," nothing, and not something, as Judah Halevi erroneously thought. Moses Butarel and others tell us that they had had before them a correct copy of Sepher Yezirah," where it reads: ייחוד תותח. The same passage is mentioned in the Talmud treatise Chagigah, p. 12, a, with the addition of המוסר. The word is translated by Rashi, moist. Some say it is a compound word of מָשָׁל, etc. But the word is not of Semitic origin; it is, according to my opinion, borrowed from the Greek as the word πλημμὺς flood. מָשָׁל, etc., flood. מָשָׁל, etc., fish that are caught from out of the flood.

15) According to the author, the space and six dimensions emanated from the ether.

16) Judah Halevi in his book entitled "Kusari," p. 356, illustrates it thus: The Creator is one, and the space has in the figurative expression six dimensions. The book "Yezirah," having ascribed to the Creator some names in the spiritual language, chooses now in the human language the finest sounds which are, as it were, the spirits of the other sounds, namely: יְהֹוָה and says, that when the divine will was expressed by such a sublime name, it became that which the Exalted by praise wished to call forth according to the combination of יְהֹוָה. Hence it follows, that the material world was created in such a way and manner which corresponds with the material, namely, by the sublime spiritual name, which corresponds with the material name, יְהֹוָה, and out of each of them became one dimension of the world, the sphere.

17) The author shows here by the symbol of a scale and the phonetic character of the fundamental letters מ"מ that the opposite forces and the struggle which prevail in the smallest as well as in the largest circles of creation are appeased and calmed.

18) Meaning outlets, outgates of the creative power, formations.

19) The word בּעֲנָנָה signifies joy, and when transposed, forming the word בּעֲנָנָה it signifies just the contrary, trouble, plague. He means to say, that the letters of the words בּעֲנָנָה and בּעֲנָנָה are the same, but they signify nevertheless, opposite ideas on account of transposition. Just as the sphere remains the same during the rotation on its axis in its setting and in its rising; yet it appears to us as if it had undergone a great change on account of its different position.
20) My reading is

21) the combination of the twenty-two letters without permutation is represented in the following table:

22) The number of combinations of twenty-two letters two and two without any permutation is according to the mathematical formula

\[ \frac{n-1}{2} \times \frac{22}{2} = 231. \]

23) The ancient philosophers maintained that if God is the first cause, and He is necessarily, He, the immediate effect of Him, as an absolute unity, can only be again a unity. Hence from a being that is in every respect a unique being, there can only emanate one being; because would two essentially and truly different things issue conjointly from one being, they can only proceed from two different things of substance, that would consequently admit a division that is inconceivable. They then put the question, how came so many various beings into existence? Our author is therefore endeavoring to show that the whole universe emanated gradually from the spirit of the one living God.

24) The reading of Von Jo. Meyer and others is as follows: ממט רצעת את אט רסן והצב סעדר עד לומליא טאיאר נמס
וה רסן טאיאר טמור והצל יכין את הצל ומיס סעדר עד לומליא
��יגר טומר סעדר עד לומליא והצל מיס סעדר עד לומליא
My reading according to a manuscript of Rabbi Isaac Luria, which I have preferred to all others, is thus: ממט רצעת את אט רסן והצב סעדר עד לומליא וה רסן טאיאר נמס והצל יכין את הצל ומיס סעדר עד לומליא
��יגר טומר סעדר עד לומליא והצל מיס סעדר עד לומליא

25) It has been already mentioned above Chap. i, § 1, that God, his idea and his word are a unity; hence the author signifies by the letter Aleph the air from which emanated the creative speech, etc.

26) Here is meant: ethereal air, ethereal water, ethereal fire, the macro-cosm, the courses of time and microcosm. Many offspring or derivations came from the latter three, as their progenitors, as it is explained afterwards in the chapter.

27) The author endeavors to show how the creative divine word became more condensed and how a new series of productions came out of three elements.

28) In ancient times coldness was considered to be a substance. [See Psalm 147, 17.]

29) Id est, made it the reigning power.

30) Namely, with the two other elements.

31) That is to say a different combination of the elements.

32) According to the opinion of the author, it may be arranged as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>World:</th>
<th>Mem.</th>
<th>Sheen.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Aleph.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>

33) The aspirating pronunciation of in the Greek, was adopted by the ancient Jews in Palestine for the Hebrew letter ר They pronounced it partly aspirated and partly unaspirated. [See Dr. Geiger’s Lehr-und Lesebuch der Mischnah, p. 22, and Dr. Graetz’s Gnosticismus, p. 117.]
34) According to the idea of our author, there emanated from the unity of God three ethereal elements: primitive air from the spirit, from the air, primitive water, and from the water, primitive fire or ether, out of which came other spheres of existence in the significant and highly important number, seven, from which descended smaller spheres and which produced again others. He endeavors to show how the ideal became, after numerous emanations, more condensed, palpable and concrete. The whole creation is thus contemplated as a pyramid, terminating in a point at the top with a broad basis. [See Dr. Graetz's Gnosticismus, p. 224.]

35) Compare Chapter I, Section 3, Note, 8.

36) The order of the planets (including the Sun) is stated here according to the Ptolemaic system which was in vogue even among the learned men till the middle of the fifteenth century, namely: Moon, Mercury, Venus, Sun, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. But this arrangement is undoubtedly an interpolation of a later time, as the author of the book. “Yeziraham” lived many years before Ptolemy. And indeed Prof. Jo. Friedrich Von Meyer and others of reliable authority had in their copies of “Yeziraham” the following order: שמה רבה יאשraham טאני כיון צ協י Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Sun.

37) Philo (Allegor 1, 42.) after having called attention to the fact that the heptade is to be found in many biblical laws, in the vowels of the Greek language, in the gamut and in the organs of the human body, exclaims, similar to our author: “The whole nature exults in the heptadet”

38) The rule for permutation is as follows: (n—1) .n. \(1 \times 2 \times 3 \times 4 \times 5 \times 6\) \(x7=5040\). In our edition it reads: סобеспש סן ראבכר ובחר. Five thousand and four houses, which is obviously a mistake, it should read: 5040 houses.

39) I read instead of רדפק for two reasons. In the first place, the same thing is mentioned afterwards, and in the second place, it is proved by the expression עליא that the author meant רדפק and not רדפק.

40) Some maintain that by the expression Tali is understood the constellation Draco or Dragon, which is a very large constellation extending for a great length from East to West; beginning at the tail which lies half way between the Pointers and the Pole Star, and winding round between the Great and Little Bear by a continued succession of bright stars from 5 to 10 degrees asunder, it coils round under the feet of the Little Bear, sweeps round the pole of the ecliptic, and terminates in a trapezium formed by four conspicuous stars from 30 to 35 degrees from North Pole. Dr. Steinsheider (see Magazin fuer Literatur des Auslandes, 1845) and Dr. Cassel (in his commentary to the book entitled Kusari,) maintain that the ancient Jewish astronomers signified by the word Tali, not the constellation Draco, but the line which joins together the two points in which the orbit of the moon intercepts the ecliptic (Dragon's head and tail). Dr. Cassel is of the opinion that our author meant here, probably the invisible, celestial or universal axis that carries the whole Universe.

41) Our author means to say that the water has a great disposition to unite itself with the caloric, thus for instance is the fire latent in steam, but the air equipoises them.

42) The meaning is, as God is the centre of the Universe, so have the macrocosm, the seasons and temperature and the microcosm, their centres receiving power from the principal centre to regulate and rule.

43) The substance of this Mishnah is mentioned in the Talmud treatise Berachoth, p. 55 a, it reads there: אַמּרְלָה הַרְדוֹתָה אָמָרְלָה הַרְדוֹתָה: "Rab Jeshutah stated in the name of Rab, that Bezalel understood to combine letters by which heaven and earth were created." To this the commentator Rashi adds: "as it is taught in the book Yeizarah." It is undoubtedly certain that the book Yeizarah, or a cosmogony as it is represented there, was known to Rab, who was a disciple of Jehudah Hanasi, during the second part of the second century. (C. E.) See treatise Berachoth, p. 55 a, where the commentator Rashi referred to the book Yeizarah.

44) This whole paragraph is an interpolation of an unknown hand, as it can be easily proved.

45) I have translated according to the reading of Rabbi Judah Halevi. The reading of Rabbi Luria is as follows: מַסֵּכָה נַגְּזֵי בָּשָׁמִים עַד שְׁלֵשֶׁת הַרְדוֹתָה "He fastened twenty-two letters on his tongue and revealed to him His mystery, He drew them by water, kindled them by fire and thundered them by the wind, He lighted them by seven, and rules them by twelve constellations." Pistor. renders it: "Tranat per aquam, ascendit in igne grandine signavit in ære. Disposuit cum septem et gubernavit cum duodecim." Postellus' version is: "Attraxit eum in aqua, ascendit in spiritu, inflammavit in septem aptatum cum duodecim signis." Meyer translates it: "Er zog sie mit Wasser, zündet sie an mit Feuer, erregte sie mit Geist, vebrannte sie mit sieben, goss sie aus mit den zwoelf Gestirnen."

THE ROSICRUCIAN ORDER, AMORC

Purpose and Work of the Order

The Rosicrucian Order, AMORC, is a philosophical and initiatic tradition. As students progress in their studies, they are initiated into the next level or degree.

Rosicrucians are men and women around the world who study the laws of nature in order to live in harmony with them. Individuals study the Rosicrucian lessons in the privacy of their own homes on subjects such as the nature of the soul, developing intuition, classical Greek philosophy, energy centers in the body, and self-healing techniques.

The Rosicrucian tradition encourages each student to discover the wisdom, compassion, strength, and peace that already reside within each of us.
